Updated regularly, your drivers license book will be useful to you for the rest of your driving career. And, spoiler alert even after you've been driving for a while, you're still going to have questions about road rules, no matter how comprehensive your drivers ed course was. It details how to get a drivers license, important road rules like right of way, tips for handling emergencies, and so much more. The easiest way is to navigate to your state's drivers licensing agency's website and view the handbook online. You can also download it so you have your own copy, or you can pick up a physical copy of a DMV handbook when you're at your licensing agency's office. In our modern world, technology is going to continue to have an impact on driving, and that's going to affect traffic laws. With our online resource, you'll always have access to your state's drivers handbook, which means you'll be able to see the latest changes when they go into effect. You'll always be up to date, and if that means avoiding traffic tickets and other hassles, it's a huge benefit to you. If you're still using your beat up copy of your drivers handbook from back when you took drivers ed, you may be getting outdated information. While reading about driving rules is not the same thing as following them when you're behind the wheel, you'll be a lot better off if you have a thorough understanding of safe driving practices.

This knowledge will help prevent you from getting traffic tickets and being involved in car accidents, which means you'll also enjoy a lower car insurance rate. What could be better than that. So even if you've already got your drivers license, be sure you're regularly brushing up on your driving safety information. You and other drivers on the road will be glad you did. Get a Quote. It looks like your browser needs updating. For the best experience on Quizlet, please update your browser. Learn More. Maintain the correct speed. Signal before you turn or change lanes. Allow space. Wear your seat belt. Do not drive if you are very weary, are on medication or have been drinking beverages that contain alcohol. Keep your vehicle in good condition. BE PREPARED AND LOOK AHEAD You should sit in a comfortable, but vertical position, and keep both hands on the steering wheel. Slouching in the drivers seat or using only one hand on the wheel makes it more difficult or even dangerous to control your vehicle. Traffic conditions change continuously. Always scan the road ahead. Do not use the road or even the vehicle ahead as your only points of focus. Look ahead so you can prevent, or decrease, possible problems. Keep your eyes moving, notice what is happening at the sides of the road, and check behind you through your mirrors every few seconds. Anticipate errors by other drivers, bicyclists and pedestrians and think about what you will do if an error occurs. Do not assume that a driver who approaches a STOP or YIELD sign on a side road is actually going to stop or yield. It is better to assume the other driver will not stop. Move Over Act This law requires every driver to exercise care to avoid colliding with an authorized emergency or hazard vehicle that is parked, stopped or standing on the shoulder or any portion of the highway with its emergency lights or one or more amber hazard lights activated. Drivers must reduce speed on all roads when encountering such vehicles, but on parkways, interstates and other controlled access roads with multiple lanes, drivers are further required to move from the lane adjacent to the emergency or hazard vehicle unless traffic or other hazards prevent doing so safely. Violations of this law are punishable as a moving violation.

AGGRESSIVE DRIVERS AND ROAD RAGE includes speeding, which often leads to following too closely, frequent or quick lane changes without a signal, passing on the shoulder or parts of the roadway that are not paved or being a nuisance to motorists, bicyclists or pedestrians, who dont get out of the way. Drivers sometimes run stop signs and red lights, pass stopped school buses, fail to keep right, drive while impaired by alcohol or drugs and drive in a reckless manner. Some drivers try to cause damage to another driver, and that is how aggressive driving becomes road rage. To prevent this, it is sometimes better not to make eye contact with another driver. The other driver can take this as being challenged. When an aggressive driver confronts you Do not make eye contact. Remain calm and relaxed. Try to move away safely. Do not challenge an aggressive driver with increased speed or try to hold your position in your travel lane. Wear a seat belt and encourage your passengers to do the same. Ignore gestures and shouts and do not return them. Report aggressive drivers to law enforcement authorities and give a vehicle description, location, vehicle plate number and direction of travel. If an aggressive driver is following you, do not stop or leave your vehicle. Drive to the nearest police station. If an aggressive driver is involved in a crash, stop a safe distance from the crash scene. When the police arrive, report the driving behavior you saw. To avoid becoming an aggressive driver Allow enough travel time to reach your destination on schedule. Adjust your schedule to prevent driving during times with the most highway traffic. If you are late, call ahead so you can relax. Do not drive when you are angry, upset or very tired. Make your vehicle comfortable. Listen to relaxing music and prevent conditions that make you anxious. When you drive, relax and be aware of how you sit. Sit back in your seat, loosen your hold on the steering wheel and do not grind your teeth.

Be polite, courteous and forgiving to other drivers. You can control how you react. If another person drives aggressively, do not do the same. If you have the rightofway, do not think of it as a complete right. Be prepared to yield the rightofway to other highway users. To wait a few seconds for another driver is far better than to risk a crash. ROAD RAGE an angry, hostile state which increases into violent criminal actions, or attempts of violent actions, that result from the operation of a motor vehicle. Who can become road raged. Aggressive driving generally involves the violation of a traffic safety law, while road rage involves the breaking of a criminal law. It could happen to anyone when our irritation or anger with others leads us to behavior that is a threat to others. We become a threat to ourselves and to the safety and lives of others on and near the road or highways. To endanger, threaten or assault another person are illegal. They can result in severe penalties that include fines, imprisonment and courtordered probation. They can also mean revocation and suspension of a driver license. Road rage can include Shouts, excessive use of a horn or obscene gestures and threats. Driving actions like when you cut off another vehicle, drive too closely, block another vehicle so it can not use a traffic lane, chase another vehicle or run it off the road, deliberately slam into a vehicle. When you stop a vehicle at the side of the road, and get out to threaten, attack, fight or injure another motorist or passenger or a pedestrian, bicyclist or other person. Speed You must obey the speed limit. Often, it is common sense to keep your actual speed below the posted limit. To keep a smooth traffic flow, some highways also have minimum speed limits. If you drive slower than the minimum speed you can halt the traffic flow and create a dangerous condition. Even if there is no minimum speed limit, those driving too slow can be as dangerous as those who drive too fast.
