Types of Air Conditioners Who wouldn't like to enter a refreshing and cool home after a tiring day at work. Air conditioners help in making our lives so much easier and comfortable. You can beat the blazing heat of harsh summers when you have an AC at your home and workspace.

Air conditioners also help in creating a healthy environment by circulating filtered air that is free from dust, smoke, and bacteria, thereby promoting better health. Let us explore the three common types of air conditioners split ACs, window ACs, and inverter ACs. What are Split Air Conditioners. A split AC has two main parts, an outdoor unit and an indoor unit. The indoor unit is appealing to look and you install this unit inside your room as it contains the cooling coil and air filter. The outdoor unit has the compressor and the condenser coil, and it is placed outside the room. Split air conditioners offer a quiet performance, they provide efficient cooling, and are also cost-effective. The initial cost of a split AC is usually more than a window AC, however it is useful in the long run as it helps in saving more on energy bills and it provides lasting durability. What are Window Air Conditioners. Window air conditioners are very affordable. They are low on cost and are also highly energy efficient. Window ACs are designed to fit inside a window and are easy to install. You just need to follow step-by-step instructions to set them up. You can install window ACs in different places. You can put them up in apartments, dorm rooms, bedrooms, and small office spaces. You can conveniently reinstall them in different locations when you need to move.
