A long cable with high capacitance will reduce the overall treble response from your pickups. Careful adjustment with the TREBLE control will make this feature very useful. It is very important to verify the proper setting before plugging the amp in. This switch sets the amp to use either 120VAC or 240VAC ranges from the wall socket. The V3M will not require rebiasing if used at 50 or 60Hz, or if the AC voltage switch is changed for travelling to different areas of the world. Once your individual channel levels are set up and balanced, use the MASTER to change your overall volume. Lastmanuals, for instance, does not offer a translation service. I checked the schematic but dont see H6A anywhere.. When I use the manual front panel momentary switches, the channels.This setup affords the player a great deal of control over clean and distorted sounds, and with such features as channel assignable effects loops and MIDI. Carvin's latest offering embarks on a mission to make all the features and sonic flexibility of a modern 3channel head or combo an affordable reality for today's player. Each channel corresponds to the master channel, which has a mid cut,boost for solos, deep, bright and of course the master volume, giving you a variety of ways to tweak your tone. The master channel is also equipped with two "smart" loops one series and one parallel, a nice feature that recalls your effects loop settings from channel 13. You can set your effect loops off in channel 1, while using both loops in channel 3, or any other combination you like.

This function allows you to have effects in the loop but intelligently assign them to specific channels.But that's the trade off, as the V3 is no onetrick pony." Off the bat, it's apparent that channel 1 has as much gain capability as a Diezel Herbert, a Triple Rectifier or an Ubershcall. The features included here were extremely impressive; each channel is equipped with an EQX function, which shifts the adjustable frequency range of your tone controls. Utilizing this function in the down position, I was able to achieve ridiculously scooped mid tones for drop tunings and modern metal sounds. I was able to get a creamy highgain lead sound with this EQX position. This 3way drive switch really changes the character of the amp, by tightening or loosening its focus, drive, compression and distortion characteristics. It also affects the midrange frequencies, and is a useful feature to really help dial in a certain tone. This channel, however, is capable of a higher gain and sustainpacked solo tone, just not as intense as channel 1. Channel 3 clean was also impressive on the versatility front. The 3way switch here is labeled Bright, Center and Soak. The Build The rear panel of the V3 boasts as many features as the front; functions include a bias option from EL34 to 6L6, cabinet voicing and level control for line out, and a power switch, which creates more or less sag on the tubes, and changes the Carvin from a 100watt, 4 tube beast to a 50watt, 2 tube creature. This feature offers nice live to studio flexibility, as some prefer the cranked 50 watt breakup. For those who want more headroom and sheer power, keep it in 100 watt mode and use all 4 power tubes. As an added plus, the V3 is fully MIDI compatible. The biggest bonus of this amp tons of knobs and switches that allow the player to shape countless sounds. It is also on the somewhat affordable side of the boutique price range. There are tons of tones available here, and it may take you some time to find your own.

But that's the trade off, as the V3 is no onetrick pony. Log on to premierguitar.com, click on "Forum" and share your comments and ratings. Eligible for Free Shipping. USA made, Factory

Direct prices All Tube, 3 channel with midi. Its a fine amp, but it is what it is, and what it is may not be right for you. I had no problem getting nice tones out of all 3 channels, but that was me plugging into it dry at a local GC as well as a local Carvin equipped rehearsal studio. I also have a Randall cabinet for sale that works well with this head. Check it out. Rock on! My church owns several Vox AC15s which we use now, so I don't get to use this amp at all any more. Its a shame because I love it so much its perfect for classic rock, blues, hard rock and metal and with the three channels you can do all three in the same set no problems. I am the original owner. And purchased this straight from the factory in San Diego in 2006 when these were first introduced to the market. Its never been turned up past 4 even 3 was too loud for most of the indyrock style services Ive used it in I will miss it but its taking up space and I cant bear looking. It will be shipped in the original box from the factory. And with the Carvin FS44 4way footswitch. Please note that this is the more expensive, limited edition with Celestion Vintage 30 speakers they stopped selling these a long time ago and just have the cheaper OEMeminnence nowadays. This amp sounds BETTER. For some great demos see the youtube videos One of the beautiful things about this amp is you can switch out the EL34s for 6L6 tubes and flick the bias switch. highs starting at 5kHz for added clarity. Mid Cut A unique mid cut helps dial in a master scooped tone from mild to extreme. Deep Adds low frequencies at the subharmonic level Reverb Assignable I bought it new in 2008 and have always kept it in my home. It is a great amp.

I am just at a point where I need a smaller sized amplifier to take with me. Here is the description off of the Carvin site The V3s 100% tube signal path delivers pure tone from warm to shimmering to infinite sustain and crunch. However since each offers 3 different Drive settings and EQX Expanded Tone Circuits, you'll be able to dial in numerous variations on each channel. New channel assignable reverb adds a new dimension to your sound. The 3rd channel is the clean channel, but with its own Drive control and 3 position. The Volume Boost is ideal for leads and solos, kick it in when you need to cut through. Just assign a loops to the current channel, Smart Loops permanently saves it until you change it. Tx but I'd be willing to drive a few hours if necessary. It's a Carvin V3 and a Marshall 1960AV I've had this amp about a decade It's got some serious signs of use but it works flawlessly. The last three years or so I've only used it in church and since I've settled down some I'd like to downsize. It's just silly to have a 50 Watt head and a 4x12 in a church service. The head is a Carvin V3 It's like Carvin's response to the Mesa Rectos and the Marshall JCM2000s. It has two identical overdrive channels and the most amazing clean channel I've ever heard. It's a tube head that you can run in 50 or 100 watts. It has four EL34s about three months old and five 12AX7 preamp tubes those are about a year old You can bias the amp with a switch to run 6L6s if you want.. more The Cabinet is a Marshall 1960AV not a regular 1960 It has G12s in it that begin to break up around 30 watts. Sounds great but the cab itself shows signs of wear. All four speakers work perfectly and the wheels have been replaced with stronger casters. Full size not the small v3m 100W Carvin V3 head in mint conditions, used only at low levels in a smokefree house and never brought on tour or to gigs.

It's an amazing and super versatile head with this it is possible to play from the heaviest of modern metal sounds like a Mesa Rectifier but even better, tighter and clearer to every type of rock to blues the clean channel is also amazing to anything else. It is really a boutique quality amp made in the USA in San Diego, CA at a fraction of the price. My amp is the version without LED, but comes equipped with a brand new polished steel front panel, which I substituted from the standard grey one for an even classier look, and it comes with its footswitch. It is an amazing amp definitely worth checking out. Take a look at the attached pictures and feel free. Local pickup only in Accokeek MD. Thank you! The amp is in mint condition, never gigged or weathered. Not a single cosmetic flaw. It has pristine cleans. One for lead and one for rhythm. The amp can produce some tight gain channels, along with some great classic rocks, and some modern distortion tones. If you turn the master up and lower the channel volumes you can access some sick metal tones too. All three channels have an independent EQ. Which turns on and off the mid cut knob, the deep knob, the bright knob, and the boost knob. One single master volume too. Other great features are the 2 FX loops in back.

Happy Bidding! US Shipping only Bid with confidence. I do not waste my time and yours by listing junk. Used Carvin V3 all tube electric guitar amplifier head. Excellent condition. Well cared for in a smoke free environment. Never club gigged; never left my home. No drops, no spills, no repairs, no mods, no nonsense. For some reason, the metal corner covers have some oxidation. This amp has NEVER been in or near moisture. Also, there is a hardly noticeable white coloration on the tolex on top. This is from a spider nest that was in the cover. Id misplaced the cover and then, once I found it, placed it on the amp not noticing the empty nest inside. There were no spiders. Ive cleaned them both thoroughly, but some of the coloration remained. 100% FUNCTIONALLIKE NEW. Excellent sounding amplifier and one of the most versatile on the market.. more I really hate to have to let this amp, and my other gear 4 or 5 smaller amps go, but Im moving and will be setting up a much smaller studio and practice space. I no longer have a band as they also moved away, thus I dont need an amp this powerful anymore. This amp can get VERY loud. Ive never had the master volume up past 6.
