Indian film actor Rahul Ramakrishna (born 1991-01-15) 15 January 1991 (30 years) Secunderabad, Telangana, India Nationality Indian Occupation Actor, singer, lyric, journalist Years Active 2014–Present Rahul Ramakrishna (City, 15 January 1991) is an Indian actor, writer and journalist. [1][2] He made his debut with shorthand, Sainma. He became popular with his role in the 2017 Telugu block, Arjun Reddy. In the first half of his career, he worked as a journalist in the evening newspapers, Post Noon and Metro India. He also worked as a translator for journalists who visit Hyderabad on assignment. Along with a brief stint as a film reviewer for a Hindustan Times affiliate website, Rahul has done many different odd jobs, such as a singer, screenwriter, and as a presenter for a cooking TV show. Rahul's affiliation with the performance began as a theater enthusiast where he worked with various theatrical groups as part of their production team. According to his interviews, Rahul developed a keen interest in acting after a workshop with playwright and activist N Madhusudan and Dr Sagari Ramdas, both of whom Rahul credits himself as his teachers and guides. His first attempt at acting was in a short film, Sainma directed by Tharun Bhascker Dhaassayam. After the appreciation that has spread for both the attempt and the aesthetic of the film and for the acting prowess of the entire cast, he signed up to play the protagonist of a supportive friend in the comedy role in the film of Telugu, Jayammu Nischayammu Raa with Srinivasa Reddy and Poorna directed by Sivaraju Kanumuri. After that, Rahul turned to fame as Shiva, in Arjun Reddy, where his incessant loyalty of the lead-up character combined with wit and emotional support led him, carried, huge fan who follows in the audience and the brotherhood of the film in the same way. Arjun Reddy's success and widespread recognition further expanded his career with instrumental characters in many Telugu films of 2018 such as Bharat Ane Nenu, Sammoohanam, Chi La Sow. Rahul repeated his role as "hero's best friend" and the combination with actor Vijay Deverakonda in the film Geetha Govindam. In 2020 he appeared in Ala Vaikunthapurramuloo. They will break the reality or the status quo to create the happy ending or message they want to create, and it is usually around a moral that I can agree with; family is important, helping others is important, doing what is right is important even when the odds are against you. This film touched these in two ways, wrong at the beginning and then right at the end, and showed the importance of (our) local farmers to (our) countries. The resolutions were imaginative for the problems the movie raised, but still, I would have liked the thought out of the box, especially a housing estate sponsoring a farmer or farming village directly for their food. And children and young adults who one day will have a hand in planting the food the Lord wants to eat. I think it's a good thing. The only real weirdness I found in the script was, no, it would have been a spoiler to say that. I still recommend the movie, so you can understand what I mean.
